Who can administer naloxone?

Under A.R.S. § 36-2267, any person may administer an opioid antagonist, like naloxone, to a person who is experiencing an opioid-related overdose. The statute further states, "A person who does this in good faith and without compensation is not liable for any civil or other damages as the result of the act."

Drug Overdose Signs & Symptoms

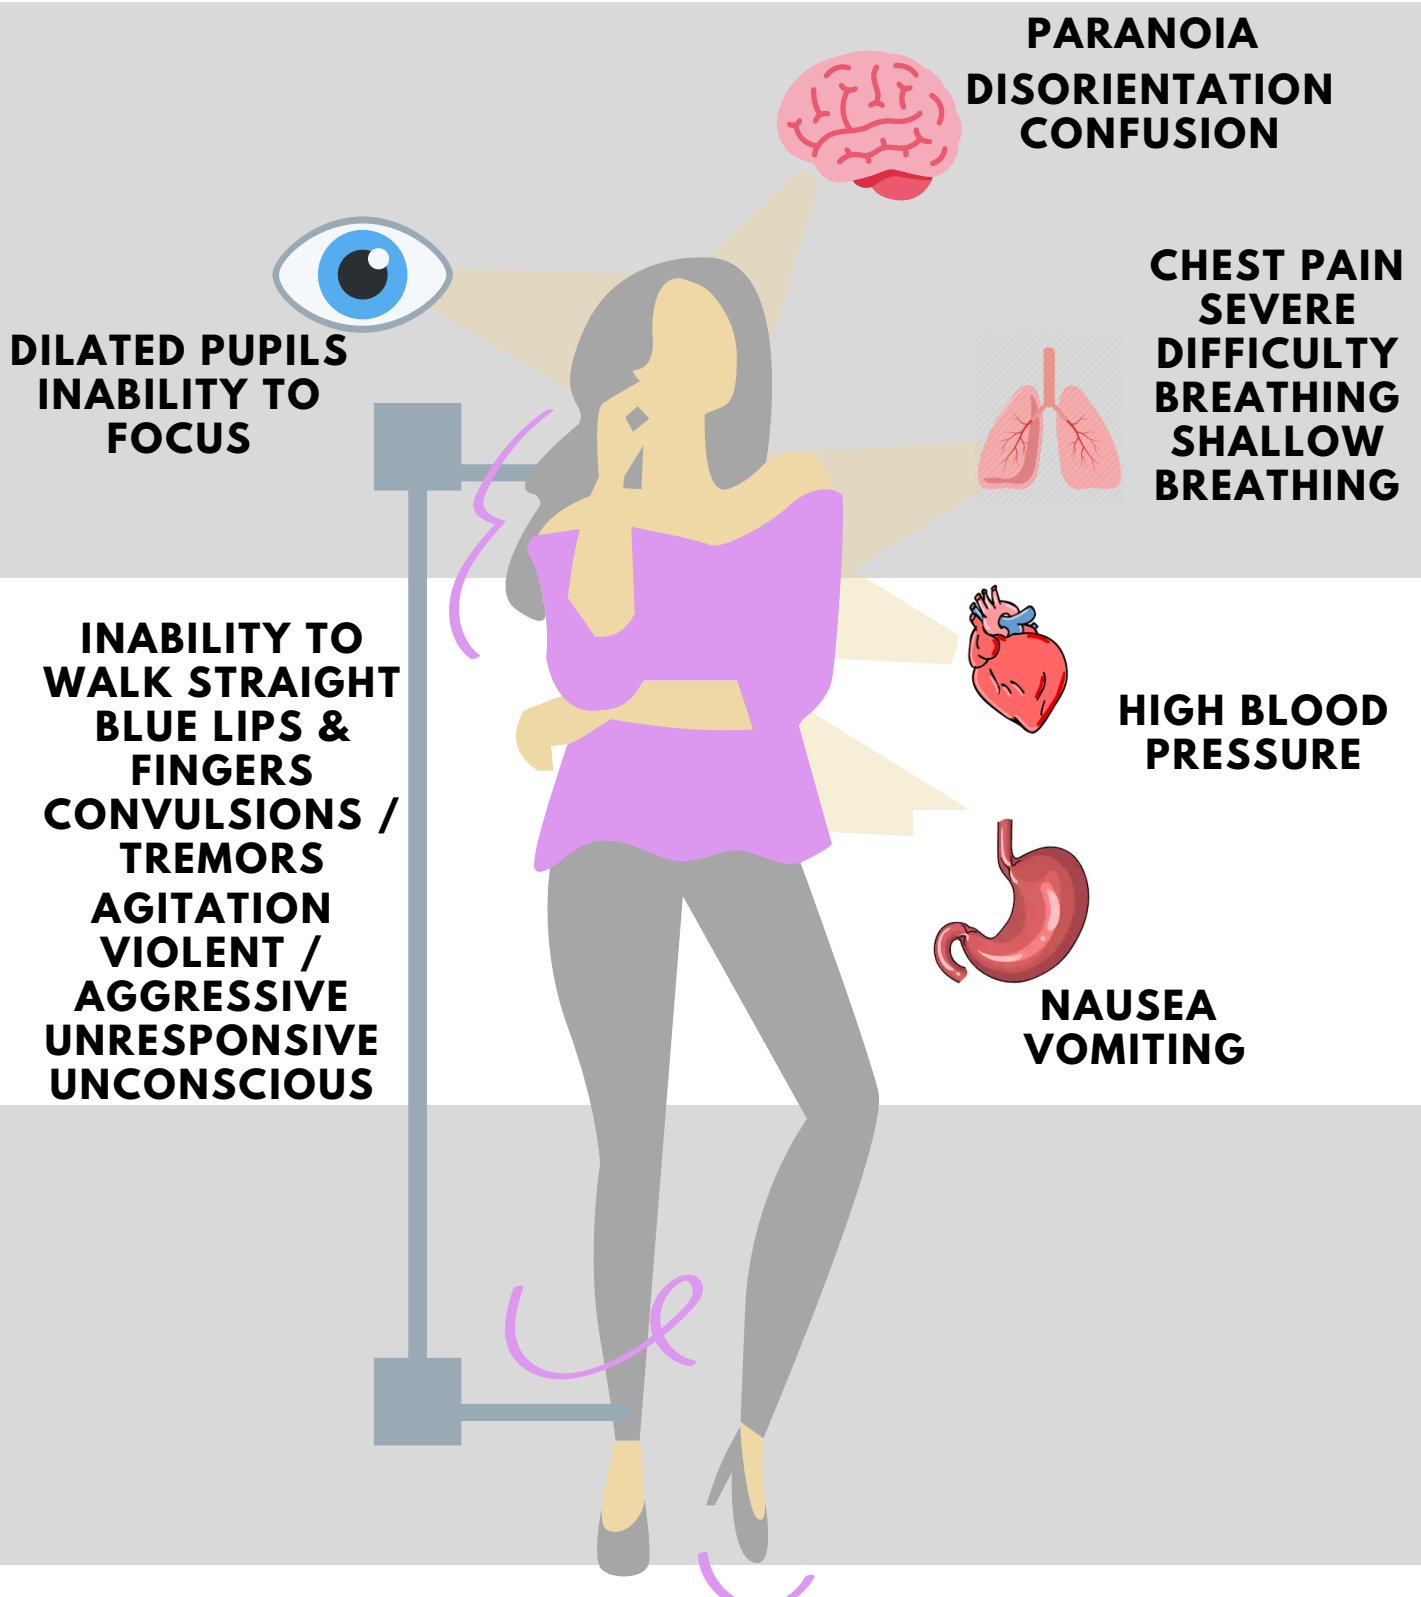

HERE ARE THINGS TO LOOK OUT FOR

WHAT IS AN OVERDOSE?

An overdose represents a pathologic level of drug toxicity—at such a magnitude that it overwhelms normal physiological functioning.

NEED TO KNOW

The physical and psychological signs of a drug overdose can vary depending on the type of drug taken, and whether the drug was taken in combination with other substances.
